

Mufassa's Big Adventure!

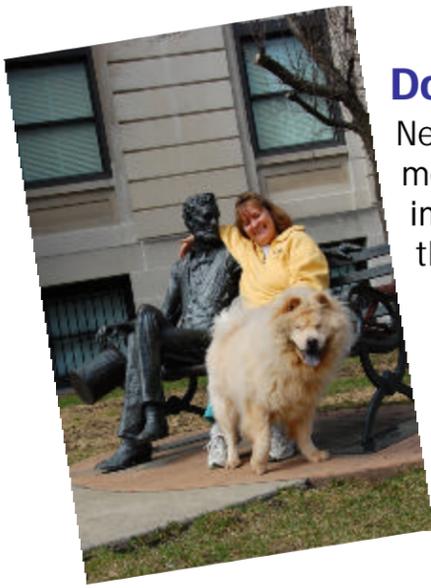

Wow! What a day! It was so beautiful out, my shelter friends decided it was time to take me around and let me explore new surroundings. Being blind, it's good get out and show people I can get along just fine, thank you very much!

I was a little unsure what was happening when Diane and Amy tried to put me in the SUV. I'm not used to being lifted off the ground. But I quickly figured out they weren't going to drop me, and all was well. I like riding the car! I'm very well behaved and can jump down by myself. I am a very independent dog!

Uptown Normal

First we went to Uptown Normal, where there is a lot going on. Construction everywhere, with lots of orange cones - well, I didn't know they were orange, but they are obviously popular with other dogs. Lots of interesting 'messages' to smell. I maneuvered around very well and stopped to talk to the lady at Garlic Press and several passersby. We also stopped at Coffee Hound, where the nice man behind the counter gave me water and a great back scratch. They like dogs there! A group of young girls stopped and gave me more scratches. It sure is nice getting attention!

Downtown Bloomington

Next it was on to Downtown Bloomington to meet Abraham Lincoln! I was not that impressed - he does not give back scratches - though I hear he's very popular.

Miller Park

We had more fun at the lake at Miller Park. Many more smells and I got to cross a bridge. Careful, don't fall off! There were so many interesting scents, I didn't want to leave. Ducks, geese, other dogs...this must be a popular place! When I'm adopted, I hope they bring me back here!
